

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

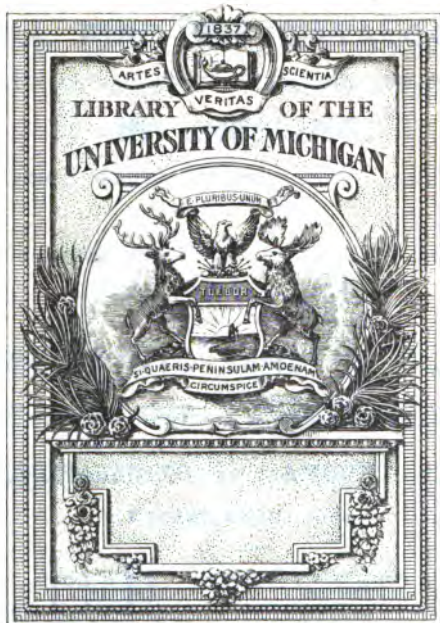

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. Preface.

SOME books, like some trees, grow from a mere seed.

The first germ of this book was sown in the year 1886, and brought forth a tiny volume of 72 pages—an imperfect catalogue of Second-hand Book Dealers in the United Kingdom and nothing more; the second edition, appearing in 1888, rose to 174 pages; the third, in 1891, assumed an international character, and in the attempt to "put a girdle round about the earth," grew to 376 pages; the fourth, in 1894, exhibited further signs of development; and the present, the fifth of the series, with enlargements in all sections, has expanded to 420 pages. Beyond these salutary indications of growth in itself, this book has given birth to numerous offspring—works differing in some degree from the parent form—but bearing unmistakable evidence of their origin.

This edition of the Directory, in addition to the usual contents, supplies the names and addresses of firms dealing in NEW BOOKS—a large increase of matter which has necessitated the use of rather smaller type in the first division of the work. The two classes of Booksellers—dealers in NEW and in SECOND-HAND literature—are clearly distinguished, so that in mailing announcements it will be a simple matter to address one or the other as desired.

Revised 9-5-1951

WM

Unusual pains have been taken to make the lists complete up to the moment of going to press. Proof slips for revision and correction have been posted to every town of importance in the United Kingdom and abroad, a safeguard which has delayed publication, but with the result of securing probably the most accurate register of bona-fide dealers in books that has hitherto been published.

The Editor is indebted to MR. DANIEL HIPWELL for a careful and exhaustive Bibliography, which includes Works of Reference upon all subjects ; Book-Plates ; Concordances ; Book and Library Catalogues ; and Trade Journals.

The alphabetical arrangement is followed throughout, either in the order of towns or of names of persons.

The Editor has received various suggestions tending on the whole to increase the practical value of the Directory. Some of these have been adopted, others, owing to considerations of space, could not be utilised in the present issue.

Thanks are due and are cordially tendered to those who have so kindly responded to enquiries, or volunteered valuable information.

IN the following pages, an asterisk (*) denotes that the firm publishes periodically a Catalogue of Books, which will be sent post free to bookbuyers.

If not otherwise described, by the words "Second-hand" or "New and Second-hand," firms deal in New Books only.

The figures which in some cases follow the address, denote the year in which the firm began business.

The populations of the cities and towns of Great Britain and Ireland are according to the census of 1891. The populations of American cities and towns are approximate only, but sufficiently indicate their relative size and importance.

The names of ADVERTISERS are printed in BOLD TYPE.

'DIRECT CALCULATORS,' BY M. B. COTSWORTH,

OF HOLGATE, YORK,

SUITABLE FOR ALL NATIONS, TRADES, AND PROFESSIONS,

And already in use by H.M. Government, the Bank of England, many Insurance and Railway Companies and leading Commercial Houses.

Accounts may be charged out or checked by these means in about ONE-THIRD the time required by ordinary methods of calculation. These "Calculators" have very clear and original indices and other automatic contrivances for instantly finding the exact page and column in which the answer is seen AT A GLANCE, by its fixed position, without even sighting the top or side of the page. No time is wasted in turning over a second page. Wherever the books are open the next calculation is found with precision by simply working the double index. The Calculators are varied in arrangement to suit the special need of each particular trade.

Particulars are solicited showing kind and range of calculations required, together with your present shortest way of doing them, so that we may advise readers how they may be helped by the most suitable Calculators.

"DIRECT CALCULATOR (O)" shows AT A GLANCE the results of Multiplication—Division—Percentage—Average—Interest—Exchange—
 Square and Cube Root—Three Figures; also all General and Scientific Calculations of all Combinations of Numbers are worked at a time as readily as single figures are applied in ordinary arithmetic. PRICE

"RAILWAY AND TRADERS' CALCULATOR" (R. & T.), as prepared for the Railway Companies—one Company has already taken over 600 copies..... 10/6

"TIMBER TRADES MEASURER AND CALCULATOR (T)" 3/6

"WAGES CALCULATORS" for various Standard Hours—5/- to 36/6 per week 2/6

"DIRECT CALCULATORS" for tons, cwt., qrs., lbs., articles at so much each, per yard, dozen, gross, &c., for all trades at various prices.

"INTEREST CALCULATORS" for various rates of Interest, showing every unit value to 1000 with larger or smaller values on the same page 5/- to 7/6

N.B.—Other "Direct Calculators," &c., may be had—List on application.

H. S. NICHOLS, LTD.,

Bookbinding Department

61 & 62, High Street, Bloomsbury, London, W.C.

H. S. NICHOLS, Ltd., desire to call attention to their BOOK-BINDING DEPARTMENT. They have secured the late Mr. Bedford's magnificent and unique collection of Binding Tools, comprising, amongst others, sets of the designs of GROLIER, DEROME, NICHOLAS and CLOVIS EVE, MAIOLI, ROGER PAYNE, LE GASCON, also designs for Bindings in the HARLEIAN or MONASTIC styles, and also a large number of Tools of emblematic designs for Sporting Books, together with thousands of other designs of every description of ornament of the French, Italian, and English Schools.

H. S. Nichols, Ltd., undoubtedly possess the most remarkable and unique Binding establishment in this country, and with the tools they secured the men—several of them acknowledged masters of the craft—and without hesitation they may assert that the work executed by them cannot be surpassed for quaintness, originality, art of design, and first-class workmanship and finish. They will endeavour to maintain constant improvement, until specimens "Bound by Nichols" shall be as recherché, as much valued, coveted, and collected as those bound by the great masters whose designs are in their possession. In the special skill and care is devoted, as also to the Cleaning and Mending of soiled copies of Valuable Books. Manuscripts on Vellum, Rare Manuscript Letters, and Old Records preserved in the best possible manner. In this branch of the art they have secured the services of the man who par excellence excels all others.

ORDINARY BINDING, always first-class work, for Magazines, etc., at low prices.

ARMS, MONOGRAMS, ETC., designed and cut in brass and embossed upon any kind of leather, vellum, or other material. Special designs and estimates submitted for Choice and Delicate Work. Presentation Testimonials to order in the form of a book, with Illuminated Lettering Pieces for same.

SPECIALITÉ.—Drop Cases, etc., made in every style, covered with morocco, calf, or other material, and handsomely and appropriately tooled, for preserving books in the original parts or boards; also Drop Cases for preserving fine and old bindings.

SOME FACTS RELATING TO THE Publishers' Circular & Booksellers' Record

IT is the only Newspaper published weekly that represents the British and Irish Publishing and Bookselling trade.

It gives a transcript of the Title-page of every work published in Great Britain, and every work of interest published abroad, with short annotations where the titles are not sufficiently explicit to define the nature of the book.

In addition to its special circulation amongst the principal firms in the Book Trade at Home and Abroad, it has a general circulation amongst Literary Men, Authors, Librarians, Book Collectors, Printers, Secretaries of Clubs, &c.

Each number contains a list of about six hundred out-of-print volumes that are wanted by Subscribers.

The Annual Subscription includes the large EXPORT and EDUCATIONAL NUMBERS; also the SPECIAL ILLUSTRATED CHRISTMAS NUMBER, which contains over THREE HUNDRED ILLUSTRATIONS, selected from the best and most artistic volumes of the Season; and every Annual Subscriber has the privilege of a Four Line Advertisement gratis each week in the Out-of-Print Books Wanted Column, and can have extra lines at 3d. a line.

It appears every Friday evening for Saturday, and advertisements should be sent to the Publishers, St. Dunstan's House, Fetter Lane, London, E.C., not later than twelve o'clock on Wednesday, and earlier when proofs are desired.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION :

"Books still accomplish miracles; they persuade men."—Thomas Carlyle.

"Books are the windows through which the soul looks out."—Henry Ward Beecher.

"Love of reading enables a man to exchange the wearisome hours of life which come to everyone, for hours of delight."—Montesquieu.

"As much company as I have kept, and as much as I love it, I love reading better, and would rather be employed in reading than in the most agreeable conversation."—Pope.

"Except a living man, there is nothing more wonderful than a book ! A message to us from the dead—from human souls whom we never saw, who lived, perhaps, thousands of miles away ; and yet these, in those little sheets of paper, speak to us, amuse us, terrify us, teach us, comfort us, open their hearts to us as brothers."—Charles Kingsley.

Goethe says that "every day a man should see a flower, or a fine picture, or read a poem, or hear music."

"Shakespeare pours new life every morning through all our continents and islands, and its currents ceaselessly pass to and fro during the very watches of the stars."

"Burns makes every daisy 'a gem of purest ray serene,' gives music to the lips of every lover, renders every parting poetical, and hallows the closing week in a thousand households."

Book-Plates.

By WALTER HAMILTON.

Reprinted, by permission, from Messrs, Puttick & Simpson's Sale Catalogue of a portion of the Author's Collection of Ex-Libris.

THE EX-LIBRIS, or mark of ownership, affixed in the interior of a book originated in Germany, very shortly after the invention of printing, and dated examples are known as early as 1516. Many of the earliest German book-plates were printed from very rough woodcuts.

Previous to the introduction of printing, when books were scarce and extremely costly luxuries, it was the fashion to have the coat of arms of the owner emblazoned on the sides of the binding in gold, silver and colours, and, following this rule, we find that by far the larger proportion of Early Engraved Ex-Libris were essentially heraldic in character.

Indeed, they almost necessarily were so, for in those days, though few could read ordinary writing or print, even the lowest menial was acquainted with the arms and badges of those whom he served, and with those of the principal families in his district.

The expression is sometimes heard amongst Collectors that such a plate is of little value, as it is only a "plain armorial," whereas the chief value of early plates is to be found in their heraldic character. And for anyone not possessed of some little smattering of that science to pretend to understand and appreciate the value of book-plates is as if one were to attempt the study of a foreign language without the aid of a dictionary.

As many of the distinctive features of heraldry vary in Germany, France, Spain, Italy and Great Britain, so can the experienced collector at once decide to which nationality any plate belongs; and he can further distinguish of what rank, district and family was its original owner.

It has been the fashion of late to compare the collection of book-plates with that of postage stamps, but there is really little analogy between the two, save in the opinion of Mr. Andrew Lang.

In book-plates we can trace back records for over four centuries in most of the great European nations, and in all the orders of Royalty, Nobility, and Gentry. Clerical, Military, and Civil dignitaries are all represented, and connected for all time with their love of books and literary pursuits.

In what collection of postage stamps do we find such antiquity, such interest, such beauty? For it must not be forgotten that, from the days of Albert Durer to Hogarth, from Gravelot and Boucher to Sherborn and Erat Harrison, the finest of engravers have lavished some of their best work on these delightful little marks of ownership that the collector now seeks out and preserves from that destruction, or oblivion, which, but for him, would be their fate.

Thus far, then, of their origin, their meaning and their varied points of interest. Next we pass to a brief review of their sub-divisions.

From Germany the custom of using printed or engraved book-plates passed gradually into France and England, and, by a singular coincidence, the earliest known dated ex-libris in these two countries bears the same year, namely, 1574; although, no doubt, in both countries, earlier examples exist, could we but prove their actual date beyond dispute. The collector will soon learn to distinguish at first sight between plates of German, French, or British origin. In dealing with periods he will find more difficulty, and for British examples he cannot do better than study Warren's Guide. The nomenclature therein adopted may not be faultless; but as it has now been generally adopted, it would be futile to attempt to improve upon it.

Next, the student must become acquainted with the signatures of the principal engravers who have produced book-plates, and the periods in which they worked—a Mountaine, a Henshaw, a Sherborn, or a Marks, each is as distinct in its way as is a Bartolozzi from a Callôt, and often, indeed, quite as valuable as either.

Again, the heraldic treatment and decorative features on early English plates are totally dissimilar from those found on Scots plates of the same period; whilst the Chippendale of Scotland is as unlike the Chippendale of England as a Haggis is unlike a plum pudding.

Amongst collectors there are those who affect certain styles: one prefers pictorials and landscape, whilst another will take nothing but armorial. Some collect only foreign plates; whilst others will have no foreigners at all. Dated plates are sought after by many; but plates which are signed by the engraver are now indeed the most generally sought after by all. And rightly so, for a signed plate is also a dated plate within a certain period; whilst a complete collection of the signed book-plates of any really important engraver, such as Lambert of Newcastle, or Nicoll of Nancy, must always retain its interest, whilst probably its value will largely increase as time goes on.

Book lovers in Italy, France and England long continued the costly and beautiful fashion of having their arms and ciphers stamped in gold on the leather bindings of their volumes; and it was not until the commencement of the 18th century that the use of book-plates became at all general in this country. Something at that time appears to have occurred to bring them into vogue; and in 1700 and a few years subsequently the number of dated book-plates was abnormally large.

It is remarkable that so little mention of book-plates is to be found in the works of our early writers.

Samuel Pepys, in his Diary, under the date July 21st, 1668, enters:—"Went to my plate makers, and there spent an hour about contriving my little plates for my books." And these plates are now amongst those most eagerly sought after by collectors.

Almost a century elapses before we come to a little entry on the topic in Sterne's Sentimental Journey, in the Chapter on "The Starling," which concludes thus: "I have nothing further to add upon him but that, from that time to this, I have borne this poor starling on the crest to my arms thus." And here is inserted a neat Chippendale plate, arms Or, a chevron between three crosses flory sable; crest, a starling. Beneath the engraving Sterne adds; "And let the heralds officers twist his neck about if they dare." From which we may assume that Sterne knew he had no right to add to his arms without authority from Heralds' College.

No other author appears to have considered the book-plates of his period worthy of description, or even of a passing notice. Addison might have written a charming paper on them for the Spectator had the thought occurred to him, for in his day they were quite à la mode in that beau monde of which he wrote so delightfully.

The first modern writer who awoke any public interest in the topic was the Rev. Mr. Daniel Parsons, who contributed a paper on "Book-plates" to the Oxford University Archæological and Heraldic Society in 1837; and the next to follow was Mr. John Leighton, F.S.A., who wrote an illustrated article, which appeared in the Gentleman's Magazine for June, 1866.

Gradually collectors arose who began to seek after these little prints:

and when (in 1890) it was proposed to form them into a Society, most of these enthusiasts were surprised to discover how numerous their brethren were, and how widely spread were their nets.

Since then the passion for collecting Book-plates has increased on all sides, not always to the delight of the founders of the hobby. Not only has it become more difficult for them to find beautiful and early plates, but the prices have increased beyond the anticipations of the most sanguine dealers, whilst at present everything indicates that really fine specimens—especially of signed plates, or of the plates of notable people—will continue to advance in value, as the competition for their possession becomes every day more keen.

Gradually the works of every master in their design will be known and catalogued, and the discovery of an unknown plate signed by Henshaw or Austin will be announced with almost as much enthusiasm as the discovery of a new planet. Such a "find" was that of the plate R.M., probably done by R. Mountaine for himself, which was found on the cover of an old book on arithmetic in a dirty little second-hand clothes shop in a back street of Westminster.

Of modern artists, the works of H. S. Marks, R.A., C. W. Sherborn, G. W. Eve, Harry Soane, John Vinycomb, Warrington Hogg, R. A. Bell, John Leighton, F.S.A., F. V. Hadlow, J. P. Emslie, W. H. Foster, and F. C. Tilney are perhaps the best known and most sought after.

Most of the early armorial plates found in the United States were probably engraved and printed in this country, and sent out to America.

Early printed labels, such as that of McCroskey, of Virginia, are exceptional, being undoubtedly of native workmanship.

Of late years the fashion of using book-plates has spread rapidly in the United States. Many members of the Ex-Libris Society reside there; and an American Ex-Libris Society has recently been formed. Native artists and engravers now produce designs of great originality and artistic merit. Plates by E. D. French, W. F. Hopson, G. R. Halm and D. McN. Stauffer are now being eagerly sought for by collectors.

In the treatment of Heraldic designs and in their description in letter-press of armorial plates, however, both American artists and American writers commit the most amusing blunders, arising from an ignorance which may be excusable, but which should at least prevent them from trenching on the Science of Heraldry in any way.

Thus, whilst it is not at all uncommon for American gentlemen to assume the Arms belonging to some old English family of the same name, without enquiring whether any relationship exists between them, others go a step further, and actually invent coats of arms without the slightest authority, or foundation, in which the most rudimentary regulations of Heraldry are violated. Such a design for instance was that used by the late Mr. Daniel Ravenel, of Charleston, U.S.

Recently a writer thought himself called upon to describe an armorial book-plate designed by N. Hurd, on which were the names Thos. Grainger Sexton. He chose to assume that Sexton was the office or residence of the owner (as though a sexton would be likely to have a book-plate), and then devoted himself to writing a biography of the assumed owner, one Thomas Grainger, a schoolmaster. All the time the familiar arms of the Sexton family were beautifully engraved on the Shield in front of him.

Anyone can collect book-plates, but to do so intelligently and to understand them fully one must, as before said, devote some little attention to the study of Heraldry.

Copyright Registry.

BOOKS.

Instructions for the Registration of Books under the provisions of the Copyright Acts, 5 and 6 Vict., c. 45, and 49 and 50 Vict., c. 33.

Book.—The term "Book" means and includes every volume, part or division of a volume, pamphlet, sheet of letterpress, sheet of music, map, chart, or plan, separately published.

Term of Copyright in Books.—If published in lifetime of author, then forty-two years from publication or life of author and seven years from his death, whichever shall be the longest term.

If published after author's death, then proprietor has copyright for forty-two years from first publication.

The copyright in articles in encyclopædias, reviews, magazines, periodical works, or works published in parts, belongs to the proprietor of the work when such articles have been composed upon the terms that the copyright shall belong to him and shall have been actually paid for by him; but after twenty-eight years from first publication the right of publishing in separate form reverts to the author; and during such twenty-eight years the proprietor may not publish separately without the previous consent of the author or his assigns. Authors may by contract reserve to themselves the right of publishing in a separate form before the expiration of the twenty-eight years.

Necessity for Registration.—Copyright is created by the Statute, and does not depend upon registration, which is permissive only, and not compulsory, but no proprietor of copyright in any book can take any proceedings in respect of any infringement of his copyright unless he has, before commencing his proceedings, registered his book.

Mode of Registration.—A proprietor of copyright desiring to register at Stationers' Hall must lodge there a demand signed by him and witnessed, on a printed form provided for the purpose, together with a fee of 5s. for each entry.

Special care should be taken that the full and proper title of the book, and the correct day, month, and year of first publication, are entered, as any error or omission may invalidate the entry.

No book can be registered before it is published.

A proprietor of the copyright in an encyclopædia, review, magazine, periodical work, or work published in parts, will be entitled to all the benefits of registration upon his registering the first volume, number, or part.

Assignments.—Registered copyrights, or any share or shares thereof may be assigned, without payment of any stamp duty, by the registered proprietor lodging, at Stationers' Hall, an entry signed by him in the form prescribed by the Statute, together with a fee of 5s. Forms of Assignment can be obtained at Stationers' Hall.

Certified Copies of entries are supplied on payment of a fee of 5s. each, and such copies are prima facie proof of the matters alleged therein.

Public Libraries.—A copy of every book, and of any second or subsequent edition containing additions and alterations, should be forwarded to the British Museum immediately after publication, and four copies delivered at Stationers' Hall for the following Public Libraries:—Bodleian Library, Oxford; the University Library, Cambridge; the Advocates' Library, Edinburgh; and the Library of Trinity College, Dublin.

Newspapers.—The names of all the proprietors, and the title, of each newspaper must be registered at Somerset House, pursuant to the Newspaper Libel and Registration Act, 1881 (44 and 45 Vict., c. 60). For forms apply to The Registrar, Companies' Registration Office, Somerset House, London, w.c.

United States.—To secure Copyright in Great Britain of works intended to be published in America, simultaneous publication in both countries is essential, and the work should be registered at Stationers' Hall, and one copy delivered to the British Museum, and four copies lodged at Stationers' Hall for the Public Libraries.

Foreign Reprints.—Proprietors of books first composed, or written, or printed in the United Kingdom, desiring to prevent the importation of foreign reprints, must give notice in writing to the Commissioners of Customs, accompanied by a statutory declaration that the copyright subsists and when it will expire. Registration at Stationers' Hall is also necessary before duties can be levied for the benefit of the proprietor of copyright on foreign reprints of British copyright works imported into the Bahamas, Barbados, Bermuda, British Guiana, Cape of Good Hope, Grenada, Jamaica, Natal, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island, St. Christopher, St. Lucia, and St. Vincent.

Applicants not conversant with the mode of registration are recommended in all cases to forward with the demand for registration a copy of the Book to be registered for comparison before entry, as no alteration can be made in the "Register," or any error corrected, except by an Order of the High Court of Justice, or one of the Judges thereof.

DRAMATIC PIECES AND MUSICAL COMPOSITIONS.

Instructions for Registration of the right to represent and perform Dramatic Pieces and Musical Compositions not printed and published, see 3 and 4 Will. IV., c. 15; and 5 and 6 Vict., c. 45.

The Right to represent or perform a dramatic piece or musical composition is a right distinct from the copyright in a book containing or consisting of such dramatic piece or musical composition, and no assignment of the copyright of any such book conveys any right of representation or performance, unless so specified; and by the 22nd sec. of 5 and 6 Vic., cap. 45, an entry of every such assignment should be made in the Register Book.

The Author or Assignee of the Author of any tragedy, comedy, play, opera, farce, or other scenic, musical, or dramatic entertainment, or musical composition, not printed and published, has, as his own property, the sole liberty of representing, or causing to be represented or performed, any such dramatic piece or musical composition at any place of dramatic entertainment whatever in Her Majesty's dominions for forty-two years from the first public representation or the life of the author, and seven years from his death, which shall be longest.

Mode of Registration.—The proprietor of the right of representation of any dramatic piece or musical composition desiring to register his right at Stationers' Hall, must lodge there, for entry in the Register Book, a statement of the particulars, signed by him and witnessed, in the form on the back hereof, with a fee of 5s.

Special care must be taken to give the precise particulars required, and the day, month, and year of the first representation, as any error may invalidate the entry, and no alteration can be made in the "Register," or any error corrected, except by an Order of the High Court of Justice, or one of the Judges thereof.

Registration cannot be effected until after the date of the first representation or performance.

Assignments may be made by the registered proprietor of his interest, or any portion thereof, by filling up and lodging at Stationers' Hall, for entry in the Register Book, a statement signed and witnessed by him in the form prescribed by the Statute, together with a fee of 5s.

Certified Copies of Entries can be obtained on payment of a fee of 5s., and such copies are prima facie proof of the matters alleged therein.

Music.—Proprietors of copyright in printed musical compositions entitled to, and desirous of retaining, the right of public representation or performance, must print on the title-page of every copy a notice to the effect that the right of public representation or performance is reserved.

Forms of Entry and Assignment can be obtained at Stationers' Hall, price 1d. each.

Postage stamps cannot be received in payment of fees.

Post Office and Postal Orders to be made payable, and all communications to be addressed, to The Registrar, Copyright Office, Stationers' Hall, Ludgate Hill, E.C.

Office Hours 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

N.B.—Separate instructions can be obtained for registration of Paintings, Drawings, and Photographs, under 25 and 26 Vict., c. 68.

Definition of Copyright.—Copyright is the exclusive liberty of printing or multiplying copies of any subject to which the word is applied.

Subjects of Copyright.—Books, paintings, photographs, engravings, sculptures and similar works of art, dramatic and musical compositions and pieces.

Persons entitled to Copyright.—(1) Subjects of Her Majesty, wherever resident. (2) Other persons who, at the time of Publication, were resident in some part of Her Majesty's dominions.

Duration of Copyright.—(1) Books and dramatic or musical compositions: for the longer of the two following terms—(a) 42 years from the date of publication; (b) the life of the author and an additional 7 years. Posthumous publications are protected for 42 years from publication. (2) Paintings and photographs: during the life of the author and an additional 7 years. (3) Engravings: 28 years. (4) Sculpture: 14 years, and, if the author be then alive, an additional period of 14 years.

Articles in periodicals, of which the proprietor of the periodical has acquired the copyright, revert to the author at the end of 28 years from publication. During that period the articles may not be reprinted separately without the author's consent.

Copyright in a novel does not preclude other persons from dramatising it.

Copyright in the United States.

Address the Librarian of Congress, Washington, D.C. Authors not citizens in order to obtain valid copyright are reminded that their books or other publications must appear prior to or on same day as that abroad. The printing within the United States is obligatory. Fee for recording and a copy of the same $1. For non-residents or persons not citizens of the United States the charge for registration is $1 and 50 cents for a copy.

To Clean Old Prints.

Get a stale loaf of bread which has been kept not less than two days and a clean knife. Lay the engraving on a flat surface, cut the loaf in half, pare the crust from the edges, and rub the print with the bread in circular sweeps, lightly but firmly. This will take off all markings or soils of loose dust, and will often sufficiently restore slightly-soiled prints without any need of resorting to the more difficult chemical cleansing. For this process dilute one part of hydrochloric acid with a hundred parts of water. Have large, shallow dishes, larger than the print you wish to clean. On one of these dishes soak the print for a short time in the dilute solution of acid, which will cleanse away the dirt. Then remove the soaked print to another dish, and bathe it with a solution of soda sulphate to remove all trace of the acid and make it white and clean. The soda must then be removed by allowing a stream of clean water to cover and constantly flow over the print for an hour. This rinsing should be thorough, but as these soakings render the paper fragile, only the greatest care will enable you to carry it through without tearing. When cleansed it must be placed in a weak solution of isinglass or glue, to restore the firmness of texture, which has been removed by the baths. The weak isinglass or glue solution may be tinted with a little tobacco-water or clear coffee to give a slightly yellow shade to the print, which should be dried in sheets of blotting paper, between smooth boards weighted down, and when finished should be ironed with an ordinary flat iron to restore the gloss, clean white paper being placed between the iron and the print.

Sizes of Books.

THE name indicates the number of pages in the sheet, thus: in a folio book, four pages or two leaves = one sheet; a quarto, or 4to, eight pages or four leaves to a sheet; an octavo, or 8vo, sixteen pages or eight leaves to a sheet. In a 12mo, twenty-four pages, or twelve leaves = one sheet; and the 18mo, thirty-six pages, or eighteen leaves = one sheet, and so on. The following are the approximate sizes of books, over all:—

Royal folio.....19	in. by 12	Folscap 8vo.....7	in. by 4½
Demy folio.....18	„ 11	12mo.....7	„ 4
Super imperial 4to..15½	„ 13	16mo.....6½	„ 4
Royal 4to.....12½	„ 10	Square 16mo.....4½	„ 3½
Demy 4to.....11½	„ 8½	Demy 18mo.....6	„ 4
Crown 4to.....11	„ 8	Royal 24mo.....5½	„ 3½
Royal 8vo.....10	„ 6½	Demy 24mo.....5	„ 2½
Medium 8vo.....9½	„ 6	Royal 32mo.....5	„ 3
Demy 8vo.....9	„ 5½	Post 32mo.....4	„ 2½
Crown 8vo.....7½	„ 5	Demy 48mo.....3½	„ 2½

The associated librarians of Great Britain, realising that the words folio, quarto, octavo, duodecimo, etc., have ceased to possess any specific meaning, have agreed to define the sizes of books by height measurement, as follows:—

Sizes.	Abbreviations.	Size in inches.	Sizes.	Abbreviations.	Size in inches.
Large folio	La fo.	over 18	Large octavo	La 8vo	below 11
Folio	Fol.	below 18	Octavo	8vo	below 9
Small folio	Sm. fol.	below 18	Small octavo	Sm. 8vo	below 8
Large quarto	La. 4to.	below 18	Duodecimo	12mo	below 8
Quarto	4to	below 11	Decimo octavo	18mo	is 6
Small quarto	Sm. 4to.	below 8	Minimo	Mo.	below 6

According to this scale, the size of the sheet and the number of times it is folded no longer determine the size of books. The foot rule or yard stick settles it. The height, and, in the case of quartos, the width of the cover is measured, and according to the number of inches recorded the book receives its designation. This is by far the preferable way. Formerly nearly every paper-maker had his own standard sizes of sheets. The result was endless confusion in the nomenclature of sizes. Under this rule he can persist in them without confounding the bibliographer.

The following sizes of books are taken from the catalogue of the Riverside Press, the "highest authority in the United States":—Volumes described as 32mo, although not in all cases uniform, usually measure 4 inches in width by 5½ inches in height; 18mo, 4½ by 6in.; 16mo, 5 by 7in.; 12mo, 5½ by 7½in.; crown 8vo, 5½ by 8in.; 8vo, 6 by 9in.; royal 8vo, 7½ by 10in.; 4to, 10 by 12½in.; and folio, 13 by 15in. Special sizes, such as small 4to, square 16mo, etc., are modifications of the sizes named above.

Sizes of Books.

THE following are the measurements in inches of unbound copies of the volumes included in Messrs. Macmillan & Co.'s Catalogue, 1898. The cloth binding in which most of the books are issued adds slightly to these sizes :—

Folios—

Royal Folio. $20 \times 12\frac{1}{2}$.
 Demy Folio. $17\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$.
 Foolscap Folio (fcap.folio). $13\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$
 Pott Folio. $12\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$.

Quartos (4to)—

Imperial 4to. 11×15 .
 Royal 4to. $10 \times 12\frac{1}{2}$.
 Medium 4to. 9×12 .
 Demy 4to. $11\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{3}{4}$.
 Fcap. 4to. $8\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{3}{4}$.
 Pott 4to. $8\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{1}{4}$.

Octavos—

Imperial 8vo. $11 \times 7\frac{1}{2}$.
 Super Royal 8vo. 10×7 .
 Royal 8vo. $10 \times 6\frac{1}{2}$.
 Medium 8vo. 9×6 .
 Demy 8vo. (described as "8vo.")
 $8\frac{3}{4} \times 5\frac{5}{8}$.
 Extra Crown 8vo. $8\frac{1}{2} \times 5\frac{1}{2}$.
 Crown 8vo. $7\frac{1}{2} \times 5$.
 Globe 8vo. $7 \times 4\frac{3}{4}$.
 Fcap. 8vo. $6\frac{3}{4} \times 4\frac{1}{4}$.
 Pott 8vo. $6\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$.
 Demy Oblong 8vo. $8\frac{3}{4} \times 5\frac{5}{8}$.
 Post 8vo. $7\frac{5}{8} \times 4\frac{1}{4}$.

The Book-Lover's Lexicon.

By HALKETT LORD.

Biblocharybdis. A charybdis of books.

Bibliodæmon. A book-fiend or demon.

Bibliographe. One who describes books and other literary arrangements.

Bibliography. The science or knowledge of books, the materials of which they are composed, the knowledge of editions, rarity, value and curiosity, and their rank in the classification of a library. What may be termed intellectual bibliography applies to the contents of books, while material bibliography treats of their external characteristics.

Bibliognance. A term invented by Vialard and Heudier to signify the art, by them invented, of restoring books damaged either by age or accident.

Bibliognoste. The man who is versed in editions, colophons, and the minutiae of books. The bibliognoste is something of a bore.

Biblioklept. The meanest scoundrel on the face of the earth. He it is who pervades public libraries and tears out valuable plates from priceless books, and steals such portable volumes of value as he can purloin without detection. He is a snapper-up of unconsidered trifles at auction rooms, and is never so happy as when by appropriating an odd volume he can for ever ruin a costly set of books.

Bibliolatry. The worship or homage paid to books.

Bibliology. A discourse on books.

Bibliomania. A rage for possessing rare and curious books.

Bibliomaniac. The lunatic who is afflicted with the distressing disease, bibliomania; the Germans call him a büchernarr, or book-fool. He is learned only in titles, dates and editions, he is a connoisseur of colophons, an accumulator who blunders faster than he buys, cock-brained and heavy-pursed.

Bibliopegle. The art of bookbinding.

Bibliopeglist. A bookbinder.

Bibliophile. The Simon Pure lover of books, God bless him! Much rarer he than people think him to be. Bibliophile is a title which belongs to those who seek books for themselves alone, hurried into no excesses by the passion of the bibliomaniac and free from the selfish and miserly cupidity of the bibliotaphe.

Bibliopokomist. The book borrower who carries off your choicest treasures and resents any suggestion as to their return as the deadliest insult.

Bibliopole. That harmless, necessary creature, the bookseller, he who catereth for the natural or diseased appetite of the bibliophile.

Bibliopollyon. A book-destroyer, ravager or waster.

Bibliotaphe. The undertaker of literature, for he literally buries books. As a miser with his gold, so is the bibliotaphe with his books. Covetous, suspicious and ungenerous, he is a disgrace to the noble fraternity of bibliophiles.

HAS a very large stock of Rare and Precious Books of Oriental Languages on various subjects too numerous to detail, and has translated and published many works of antiquity from Sanskrit, Arabic, Persian, and English into the vernacular language of India, such as Urdu and Bhoosha. It has also a large collection of Educational Books. The prices of books have been reduced to a great extent to bring them within the reach of all classes. In addition to the bookselling, this Press carries on an extensive business of Printing, Lithography, Publishing, and Advertising. The Press issues an Urdu Newspaper both daily and weekly, and Advertisers from Foreign Countries will find this paper—which has a large circulation among the Chiefs and Nobility as well as the general public—a better medium for the introduction of their trade. ## MR. CHARLES CARRINGTON'S List of English Publications

A French Volunteer of the War of Independence.

A limited Edition in one volume, with a Portrait of the Chevalier finely engraved upon copper, 230 pages, printed on St. Albans deckle-edged paper, untrimmed edges, sm. cr. 8vo, bound in cloth, with gilt top, armorial cover design. PRICE 6s.

The Times.—"These memoirs . . . form a bright and readable volume, which gives curious glimpses of an eventful period and creates an extremely pleasant impression of the author."

Pall Mall Gazette.—"The narrative of his escape after eighteen months' confinement reads like a chapter from one of Dumas' romances. 'A French Volunteer' is a fascinating book, with the exciting incidents of a novel against a background of real history."
